

LEGISLATION IN ALBANY.

DR. BOHANNON'S DIVORCE SUIT.

THE NEW EXCISE BILL PASSED IN THE ASSEMBLY.

McGREGOR'S BILL Providing for a Constitutional Convention Passed by a Party Vote—The Brown Lining Tax Bill Recommended for a Hearing—The Passout Committee's Report Presented.

ALBANY, April 15.—The Assembly considered all of important topics in its four and a half hours sitting to-day, and had one call of the House. It was of the Excise Bill. Despite all sorts of points of order made by Mr. Astor, the rules were suspended, and the bill recommended from the committee, with amendments to meet the objections of last week, was put before the House, and after a long debate was passed by a vote of 68 to 54. The only Repub-lican who voted for it was Brodsky of New York.

The Constitutional Convention Bill or Mr. McGregor's caused another political discussion, and was finally passed by a party vote. It now goes to the Senate, where the Repub-licans will kill it.

When Mr. Blumenthal's bill to permit the New York city authorities to choose a site for a new municipal building anywhere in the city came up, Gen. Husted asked whether an amendment to accept City Hall Park would be accepted. Mr. Blumenthal said that he had no authority to decide that point. Gen. Husted then had the subject made a special order, so that he could have a vote on the amend-ment.

The Committee on Commerce and Navigation, in which Tim Sullivan has held Senator Jacob's Union Ferry Company bill, was dis-charged from its further consideration to-day by a vote of 47 to 28. The bill is to prevent the abolition of the reduced fare on the South and Hamilton ferries.

The Saxon Bill, amending the Ballet Reform act, was the subject of some discussion. The Repub-licans tried to amend and correct the errors in the Senate engrossed bill, but the Democrats insisted that the errors would not interfere with the enforcement of the law. The purpose of the amendments was to get the bill back into the Senate to kill it.

Chasney D. Dewey visited the Assembly to-day, and was appointed to speak to the House to a seat with the Speaker. The call of the House was ordered at just that time, but Dr. Dewey must have thought his chance was over, as he soon disappeared. He is a member of Assembly himself in 1862 and 1863.

An motion of Mr. McGregor in the time limit of one hour on report of bill was extended to April 16.

The Senate to-day passed one of the most recently introduced of bills, one that had been pending for a considerable time, a day or two. It was introduced by Senator Laflin, and provides that actions for damage, real and personal, or for removal of any railroad must be instituted within two years of the construction of the road. This is similar to the statute of limitations in England, and the expiration of six years. Senators Bassett, Barton, and O'Connor opposed the bill, and Wm. C. Miller, who is a strong advocate in favor of the bill, and Senator Laflin, and provides that actions for damage, real and personal, or for removal of any railroad must be instituted within two years of the construction of the road.
